The WRA Retro program provides you with expert claims assistance and a customized Return to Work plan so you can focus on your business.

Dear <Firstname>:

Do your L&I claims have you twisted in knots? Then let the WRA Retro program help you unwind.

What is Retro?

The WRA Retrospective Rating program (Retro) rewards employers for maintaining a safe workplace and controlling claims costs in addition to providing claims assistance. Claims are compared to premiums on a year-by-year basis. When premiums exceed claims costs, the balance is refunded to Retro members. Although a refund cannot be guaranteed, since the inception of the program in 1986, the group program has received an average refund from L&I of 24.38%. In fact, the only way to get money back on your L&I premiums is by becoming a WRA Retro member.

How can Retro help me?

Save time. A professional claims specialist will oversee each injury claim and develop a Return to Work program especially for you. Claims hearings and protests are attended on your behalf, so you have less stress too.

Save money. Even if you've never had an L&I claim, the Retro program can save you money. The average annual L&I refund to the group program is 24.38% of members' pooled premiums. The Retro program has received up to $9.8 million in refunds in a given year. You can get a no-obligation refund calculation by returning the release form in the enclosed envelope.

Improve ratings and avoid non-compliance fines. Gain access to full-time safety professionals who will perform a safety review as well as help you develop a customized safety program and safety manual. Restaurants without an appropriate safety manual can face up to a $1,500 penalty. Additionally, you can decrease your L&I claims expenditures even further by improving your safety ratings through Retro program involvement. Expert claims assistance and reduced workplace injuries help decrease your L&I experience factor and risk factor. A .20 reduction in your factors is equivalent to a 20% decrease in quarterly L&I premiums.

Get started in Retro today!

Let us handle your L&I claims so you can unwind! Simply fill out the release form and return it in the enclosed envelope to the WRA for your free refund calculation.

Sincerely,

Anthony Anton, President & CEO, Washington Restaurant Association
